

Explore Nungarin

On Tuesday 26th May Emily and I ventured to Billycatting Hill Nature Reserve to explore. This 2,500 ha flora and fauna reserve is a nature lover's delight and well worth a visit. Although this reserve is not in our Nungarin Shire (it is in the neighboring Trayning Shire), it is right on our doorstep and only a short distance from Nungarin Town, on the way to Mangowine

Homestead.

After our adventure at Billycatting Reserve we set off to Mangowine Homestead. It was nice to see they had a couple of visitors staying at this Caravan Park, which has both powered and unpowered sites available across expansive views. We were greeted by the caretaker Bob who was generous enough to give us a tour through all the old buildings which are kept lovely and clean. Bob mentioned the Homestead doesn't usually attract many younger visitors however Emily and I were amazed at how well the original building was restored and how each room had a story to tell. We definitely recommend this location for people of all ages for both a day visit and/or overnight stop.

Visitors Centre

Written by Janae de Lacy

Tourism Trainee

Website: nungarin.com.au

Facebook: Explore Nungarin

All photos courtesy of Janae de Lacy

