

Nungarin Heritage Machinery & Army Museum

One of Western Australia's best kept secrets hidden within the tiny Wheatbelt town of Nungarin. The Nungarin Heritage Machinery and Army Museum is a historic WWII No.5 Base Ordnance Depot considered to be the largest storage facility in WA during the 1940's.

Wander through the huge timber building and immerse yourself in the large collection of memorabilia and machinery. Our museum is a volunteer based attraction, all the volunteer workers are extremely passionate about educating others on the Museum 7 days a week 9am-4pm.

Visit the Museum café for a cuppa & big cooked brekky on Sundays from 8am to 12pm.
(Excluding market Sundays)

Bookings available for morning tea/luncheon.

If you are interested email nungarinheritage@bigpond.com or call 9046 5040

Photo credits to Pippa de Lacy